As a trip participant, you will be exposed to the elements of the Lower Salmon Gorge. If you are dressed properly, you can be very comfortable in the changing weather patterns of this environment. Be prepared to deal with both extreme rain and extreme sun and your trip will much more enjoyable.

The biggest task will be to avoid sunburn. When the sun comes out, it reflects off the water and intensifies the rays. You must be prepared to drink lots of water, wear lots of sunscreen, and wear a hat to keep the sun off your face. While in the boat, on the river, we recommend wearing a t-shirt, shorts, and a hat. Be ready to 'cover up' exposed skin should you become hot.

While in camp, you should wear whatever is comfortable - Levis, t-shirts, fleece top or bottom, dry shoes or sandals, shorts, or rain jacket.
